

Anthology selects Rescompany as PMS supplier in Australia

Sydney, March 2009

Rescompany and its RESCO HMS hotel and property management system have been awarded contract for Anthology's hotel properties in Australia. Sally Cope, Director of Sales & Marketing from Anthology, commented: "Rescompany eliminated strong competition because of its well known customer relation and support reputation. Further, Rescompany has a proven track record of dealing with new clientele and new projects and is known as a highly motivated partner in the industry which is exactly what we need for our new company."

Anthology is Rescompany's first move into the Australian market after installing RESCO HMS hotel and property management system in 25 properties in Europe. "Anthology's decision confirms our philosophy of focusing on customer relation management functionality in addition to all the regular features of a PMS", said Peter Winqvist, Managing Director of Rescompany Systems. "For the future, we see many opportunities within the Asia/Pacific region. RESCO HMS also is currently being implemented for a client in Hong Kong."

Anthology is a benchmark travel company specialising in the development of hotels and resorts in remote wilderness locations in sensitive Australian landscapes. Anthology (www.anthology.travel) currently has four products in the collection, Bay of Fires and Cradle Mountain Huts Walks and heritage estate, Quamby – coincidentally all in the beautiful state of Tasmania – and most recently the spectacularly located Wilpena Pound Resort in South Australia. Each experience has its own personality and style and will leave an indelible memory in the traveller's mind.

RESCO HMS was developed by hotel industry experts to simplify room sales as much as possible. The reservation team is able to retrieve the entire availability with a few simple mouse clicks and assign guests directly from the sophisticated customer database to a reservation. Group reservations are easily accomplished with the automatic room allocator. Room allotments, options and waitlists also are supported. On the financial side, downpayment handling just like accounts receivable handling, is part of the system. The integrated POS module along with the inventory/ordering system complete the package. RESCO CRS and RESCO HMS are linked through a state of the art interface which allows hotel chains or hotel co-operations to add central reservations for multiple hotels.
