seachefs runs hotel management on board MV MINERVA

seachefs, serving the maritime industry for almost ten years, has won Swan Hellenic Cruises as new client in the field of hotel management services on board MV MINERVA. The hotel management also integrates procurement, F&B controlling and menu planning as well as restaurant and bar operation, housekeeping and laundry services, reception desk functionality and the purser's office.

"We are very proud of being able to share our years of experience and our unremitting attention to detail with Swan Hellenic Cruises, a well known British cruise company", comments Helmut Rödig, Managing Director of seachefs' branch office in Hamburg, this new contract. "Swan Hellenic has already won many awards for her unique style of discovery cruising. We are intently focused on quality and service, with a keen eye on the ship owner's bottom line, to keep those well established standards on board MV MINERVA."

Tony Dyson, Managing Director of Swan Hellenic, adds: "For us it was most important to find a reputable company that is offering an all-in-solution for our hotel management so that we can guarantee our passengers high quality standards of all performances on board. We are also convinced by the personnel management at seachefs that does not only look for suitable qualifications but also for human qualities."

Swan Hellenic has been defining the art of discovery cruising for more than 50 years. Each cruise itinerary is a unique, cultural travel experience, blending world-class sites with smaller, off the beaten track destinations. MV MINERVA is sailing to popular cruise destinations including Northern Europe, the Western Mediterranean, South America, Antarctica and Africa.
